

Join us for a special Osler Society evening to celebrate

A Caregiver's Voice

Musical Performance • Poetry Readings • Dramatic Monologues

Followed by a Panel Discussion

The emotional, physical, and financial stress of caring for a loved one for a prolonged period of time can be overwhelming. As physicians, we rely heavily on caregivers to ensure that our treatment instructions are followed, and as such, caregivers become critical partners in the care of our patients.

Join us to hear the powerful narratives and perspectives of caregivers in our community, told through music, poetry, and storytelling, and presented by our medical students. Share your thoughts during our panel of physicians, social workers and caregivers, immediately following the presentations.
