

EISENHOWER BOX

DONALD AND BARBARA
ZUCKER SCHOOL of MEDICINE
AT HOFSTRA/NORTHWELL

FEELING OVERWHELMED?

Use an Eisenhower Box to triage your to do list. Think about any activity or task you need to get done, then see where it fits within the box.

KEEP IN MIND :

What things do you do that you know are wasting your time?

What activities do you do that have resulted in progress toward your goals?

Do you have certain people or activities in your life that are negative? Positive? How do they contribute to your goals?

Try this exercise out for a few days and see how it feels. Once you get the hang of it, you'll probably be able to organize your tasks this way in your head.

Do not use this exercise as a way to procrastinate.

What is important?

Any activity that leads you to your goal (becoming a successful physician).

What is urgent?

ANY ACTIVITY THAT DEMANDS YOUR ATTENTION NOW OR NEEDS TO BE DONE NOW.

Plan of attack:

When attacking your lists, be sure to work in this order:

- 1.) Important/Urgent
- 2.) Important/Not Urgent
- 3.) Not Important/Urgent
- 4.) Not Important/Not Urgent

It is okay to say no to things you know are not important. Practice doing this!
