Learning Objectives
Upon completion of this session, participants should be able to:

1. Define the concept of medical futility and the role it plays in clinical decision making
2. Apply the 4 bioethical principles (autonomy, beneficence, non-maleficence, social justice) to the concept of futile medical treatment/interventions
3. Strategize ways in which the ethics behind medical futility can help subdue clinician moral distress

Target Audience: All clinician-educators
