Students may be considered for graduation with Distinction in Research if they, during medical school, significantly contributed to the design and execution of a research project that culminated in the submission of an original article to a peer-reviewed journal. To qualify, the research project must be hypothesis driven. The student's contribution must meet the Zucker School of Medicine at Hofstra/Northwell criteria for authorship (<https://medicine.hofstra.edu/pdf/policy/policy-authorship-scholarly-publications.pdf>) and as such, excludes observational and case-based reports. The Committee will consider each student's participation on a case-by-case basis and invite qualified applicants to present their project and their contribution to its outcome with the committee. Final decisions are made by the committee following the presentation. For complete guidelines, please visit: <https://medicine.hofstra.edu/pdf/research/guidelines-for-distinction-in-research.pdf> All completed forms are to be submitted to tiffany.m.jordan@hofstra.edu by July 1 (for the early cycle) or March 1 (for the standard cycle) of the student's year of graduation.
